Herr Most Makes an Anarchist Speech.

THE PRISON YAWNS FOR HIM.

A Prima Donna at Chicago Starts an Audience by a Demand for Salary.

[Special to the Herald by the Associated Press.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—A New York special says: "Herr Most's address to the anarchist and socialists last night must land him in prison. He said: 'I can furnish you with 10,000 men to breach-loads with bayonets at $10 apiece. You waste your money buying gold watches and jewelry. Better buy muskets, revolvers and cartridges. When you have enough shooting iron then rise and take what belongs to us. Carry clubs also, we have no artillery as yet, but will have it in time. The constitution gives us the right to have cannot also. As for bonds you need not wait until you have the founders to make them. You can make bonds out of glass tubes and iron pipe which you can load with dynamite or gunpowder. Fasten on caps at both ends and when you see any of the rascals throw them under their feed and kill them off your own men. We have also learned how to use petroleum. Petrol-oil is cheap and burns well. Petroleum bombs can be thrown twenty feet. Then when we are all armed we can take possession of all the arsenals and armories in the city. In one year 10,000 men could be armed, so then we would seize the arsenals and we would make all the men work for us and champagne for ourselves. We want all we can get to work in our camps, and the State and the Church, for they are all our enemies."

A PLUCKY PRIMA DONNA.

Dagger in Hand She Demands Her Salary.

CHICAGO, April 24.—There was a remarkable scene to-night during the performance of the opera of Lucia di Lammermoor at the Grand Opera House of the Milan Grand Italian Opera Company. The audience was miserably small and the singers were thoroughly disengaged at the failure to draw during their engagement of the week. The audience was preparing to sit through the last act and were evidently watching the curtain rising for the appearance of Lucia. They watched in vain. The chorus stood in mute amazement, and the musicians and the orchestra pit grimed. The audience stood and clapped, while the gallant hero repented. The curtain was rung down and there was a wait of a few minutes, and finally Sefor Alberto Sarata, manager of the opera, came on stage. The stage was silent and the curtain was drawn again. He said that Miss Eva Cummings, who was singing the role of Lucia had suddenly ill and was too indisposed to come on hand. The performance, however, would go on without her. While Sarata was speaking Lucia's face appeared at the other side of the stage, her eyes fastened on the manager. When he addressed her she said, "I have got a dagger in my hand. I want my salary." The dagger was withdrawn and the audience leaped into chaises and boxes. The curtain was drawn again. Miss Cummings, arrayed in a white costume of lace, walked to the center of the stage. In her right hand she had a dagger. With the dagger she had a Lucia's existence. She flounced it in her pocket and declared, "I have received no money from the manager this week, that is my reason for not singing, and the Prince. Don't be afraid, I'll gracefully to the left side of the stage. She turned to make her exit, but the curtain was held fast by invisible forces inside, and she was held in the right exit. "I'll get off this stage somehow," she exclaimed, and with a rush she pushed the curtain back. She had got about half way through the invisible forces and tried to pin the curtain against her exit. The white-robed Lucia stubbornly persisted. Suddenly with a jerk the curtain was drawn. Whether it was because of the effort or the repulsion of the audience that induced the invisible force to so quickly let the curtain alone no one present was able to say. The curtain did open and Lucia was seen some time without the buried Lucia was done to the satisfaction of everybody.

To Editors.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 24, 1886.—The Executive of the Irish National League of America sends out to-day the following circular to the editors of all the leading papers:

EXECUTIVE LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 24, 1886.]

To Editors: All admit the great importance of American opinion as a factor in influencing the settlement of the Irish question. As one of the means of presenting that opinion, the Irish National League proposes to make a collection of editorial and news items from all the leading papers on the subject. It is necessary for the Parliament, past them into albums and forward one copy to Mr. Parsons and one to Mr. Gladstone. With this view we have the honor to call on the above to do the same, and to request three copies of any articles that have appeared in your paper commenting on Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule bill and the Land Purchase.

Respectfully yours,

PATRICK EGAN,
President.

CHARLES O'REILLY,
Secretary.

JOHN P. SUTTON,
Secretary.

GERMAN NEWS.

BERLIN, April 24.—It is stated positively that an agreement has been effected between Prussia and the Church. There is no doubt that the object of Prince Bismarck is yielding to the demands of the Vatican to gain the support of the Center party in carrying out various schemes in the immediate future. The Liberals tanto Bismarck with having gone to the Vatican. They predict that the church will submit to Prussia and will prove disastrous to civilization and to progress. Protestant newspapers violently denounce what they term the "sacrifice to the Vatican."

The Government has ordered that an official inquiry be made in regard to the claims of the agricultural landed interests that land is unfairly taxed. If the alibi is true, the Government will reduce the land tax and will cover the deficiency by additional indirect taxation, which will especially affect imports, thus helping native industries.

EIGHT-HOUR MOVEMENT.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 24.—The Miners' and Laborers' Amalgamated Association of Luzerne, Lackawanna and Northern Schuylkill counties held a grand demonstration here this afternoon.

All of the collieries in Luzerne county supplied coal for the march and about 22,000 persons took part in the parade.

A most meeting was held at which addresses were made by Congressmen C. N. Banfield, Senator John Parker and others. The march was to continue eight hours and the enforcement of it, impressing upon the minds of their hearers that this did not mean a strike as had been reported. What they would demand was a fair day's wages for eight hours of labor.

DAILY HERALD.

Single Copies of the Herald, 5 Cents

Herald Steam Printing House.
The HERALD Steam Printing House is not surpassed by any job printing office on the Pacific Coast, outside of San Francisco, in facilities for doing job work. Low prices, good work and execution may be relied upon at this office.

Special Notice.

HERALD notices of companies, societies, churches, etc., will only be inserted in the HERALD as paid advertisements. We do not place for places of worship a gratuitous directory which will appear every Sunday morning.

The HERALD office is connected with the telephone system of Los Angeles and its county. Orders for advertising or job work may be sent through this medium to HERALD.

The HERALD is the official paper of the city of Los Angeles. The city dailies and tax lists and all other municipal notices appear only in its columns.

Mr. H. N. Rouse is the Santa Ana agent of the HERALD.

THROUGH a shameful negligence in some quarter, the HERALD has thus far failed to receive the Advocate, the bemedaled which carries the flag of Rear-Admiral James, until yesterday. It is a clipper-rigged, swivel-bowed concern, with the pennant of hard service swinging at the mast-head. The nautical phases of journalism have been illustrated by Janes in the last. Let us hope that he will be both nice and naughty, and that in the on-rushing momentum of his patriotic impulses he will not neglect the force of the Paulian aphorism, that he is worse than a heathen who neglects his own household.

THERE are occasionally instances of political treachery that are interesting from their very detestableness. Councilman G. L. Stearns affords an instance in point. Last Fall this man was running down in the First Ward as the Democratic candidate for the City Council. The other evening he appeared at the meeting of the Republican city club as an ardent member, counseling it in the ways which to this patriotic Parian seems the ways of success. The Democratic party can very well afford to dispense with the lizard devotion of this cold-blooded politician, who would be disorganized if a red corpuscle should be found in his blood. In his defection the Democratic party is happy. But, ah! how distraught and unhappy indeed is the Republican party in his accession to their ranks? Pyrrhus once said that with one more victory over the Romans he was undone. Verily the Republican party with one more such recruit would be in dangerous straits!

IS the person of Mr. Lawrence Barrett the people of Los Angeles will have an opportunity of bearing one of the most accomplished and versatile actors that has ever figured on the American stage. He is unique in the sense that he is both an accomplished tragedian, a comedian of exceptional grace and merit and an all round actor with scarcely a peer. In the character of Lamontico, in Francesco da Rimini, Barrett presents a historic study almost without a parallel in the annals of the stage. How George H. Bober ever came to write such a play is a mystery. Bulwer, who was accused of often writing fustian, gave the world in the Lady of Lyons an incomparable production. Bober, who has not a tittle of Bulwer's genius, has been equally lucky. Perhaps the play owes everything to Barrett's inimitable acting. At all events, no Angelino who has artistic impulses should fail to see Barrett in Lamontico Tuesday night.

Free Transportation on Cautioners.

Owing to the great reduction of freights on California wines (which at present is a nominal consideration), I will deliver more California wines to all parts of the East on the same terms as the R. R. grants to the shipping companies.

Call on H. D. Godfrey, Nadeau, and inspect the stock at 26 and 28 North Spring street, Los Angeles, Cal.

like attitude for a great party is to recognize this fact, and to seek to give the classed as aggrieved by an unequal struggle some effectual remedy. As far as the controversies before the Congressional Committee has advanced, the representatives of the workingmen have had by far the best of it. Strikes especially strike accompanied by a great waste of national and individual wealth. They are to be deplored, to only in the last extremity, and they should be characterized by no element of violence or lawlessness. But, sometimes, they are just as necessary as revolutions. When they attain proportions so vast as the present disturbances which signalize the Southwest, they are entitled to the attention of Congress and the administration. Under Democratic auspices this aspect of the matter has been recognized. It has been properly appreciated both by the Democratic President and the House of Representatives. The HERALD takes the liberty of saying that this whole incident recalls, in its general and patriotic, the best days of the Democratic party. The people will stand in with the Democratic leaders in this issue like a stone wall. They will know who are their friends.

The Stomach as a Gasometer.
In the dyspeptic stomach impure gases are generated after meals, that distend and distress it as well as the bowels. The best carminative for example, is picky and heartburn. Bitters stimulate circulation. A Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Tonic, aperient, and diuretic for indigestion in children, and as physicians now understand, impairs the tone of the stomach. Copious libations of any sort are injurious to the stomach, and to dilute its juices, is certainly not the way to increase the digestive assimilation. Aided by the bitters the digestive organs, when enfeebled and disordered, regain their tone and regularity and the symptoms of this position are eradicated, and the report states explicitly that the object of the bill is to prevent the State, Territory or the District of Columbia from interfering with the constitution which is designed with and restrained. The committee concedes the right of a State to tax its citizens engaging in any business, but it is the right of a State to lay a duty upon imports from one State into another under the name of license, tax or penalty, although the State may not be directly concerned in the particular provision for the same tax equally upon residents and non-residents.

"Such laws," says the committee, "although not directly in favor of residents and non-residents, are in conflict with the Constitutional power of Congress to regulate commerce between the States, but the bill does not affect the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low, test, short and high, and various brands of Royal Baking Powder, 100 Wall, 6c.
